

Rodgers and Hammerstein's Flower Drum Song

Presented at the Aratani Theatre at the Japanese Cultural & Community Center

This captivating tale will receive a newly updated book for 2026 by the Tony Award-winning playwright, librettist, screenwriter, and EWP theater namesake David Henry Hwang. At a time when conversations about identity and cultural preservation are more important than ever, Hwang's reworking of the book for the Spring 2026 production allows Asian Americans to reclaim this cherished story in a meaningful way, illuminating the complexities and richness of the community's continuous evolution.

FLOWER DRUM SONG pulls back the curtain on themes of assimilation and tradition in 1950's San Francisco Chinatown as Mei-li, a young Chinese opera artist fleeing communism, arrives in America, where she is immediately drawn into the dazzling world of the Grant Avenue nightclubs.
